STUDY ABROAD PROGRAM

HOW CAN YOUR UNIVERSITY
JOIN OUR NETWORK?

2020-2021

PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT

Dear reader,

Our organization, IAAS World (International Association of Students in Agricultural and Related Sciences), contributes for over 60 years to the agricultural education worldwide by shaping and training the next professionals of this sector whom will be important stakeholders addressing the challenges of our planet such as food hunger and climate change. With our network of 10.000 members spread in over 50 countries we remain the largest and oldest organization of students in the field of agriculture and its related sciences.

Our Study Abroad Program exists to allow students from different continents to discover study opportunities around the globe. With resources becoming more scarce, our food systems need to be strengthened in this era of climate change. That's why our SAP (Study Abroad Program) brings study opportunities to our members in order to prepare them to be the next leaders and decision-makers within the food chain.

We wish to collaborate with as many universities as possible in all the regions in order to be able to fulfill our mission in a sustainable win-win collaboration.

Omar Farhate

WHO ARE WE?

WHAT IS OUR AIM?

IAAS is the biggest student organization in the field of agricultural and related sciences. It was established in 1957 by young people who strongly fostered hope for progress, peace and stability. At that time, students in the field of agriculture decided to come together and create a new international student organisation in Tunisia. Since then, IAAS aims:

“to promote the exchange of experience, knowledge and ideas, and to improve the mutual understanding between students in the field of agriculture and related sciences all over the world”.

Those activities are meant to:

- Encourage the exchange of ideas and practices in agricultural and related sciences,
- Promote the cooperation and understanding between students from all over the world,
- Promote sustainable agriculture, food production and economy in the world,
- Promote a higher education system of high quality, accessible for everyone, and
- Prepare students to fulfill the challenges of their future work with a practical and global overview.

Indeed, we shape students to take an active role as leaders in their society, enter professional life with innovative ideas and contribute to a sustainable development in their field of activity.

We carry out several projects to tackle food waste (#NoFoodWaste), inequalities between women and men in agriculture (#WomenInAgriculture) and to provide development aid in rural areas (#VillageConceptProject and #SocIAAS). Moreover, we organise educational events in which we spread soft skills through trainings and workshops.

“We encourage youth to take an active role as leaders to challenge themselves in developing their professional life.”

WHAT DO WE OFFER?

The IAAS Study Abroad Program encourages students' part of the IAAS network to study abroad in universities and faculties proposing programs in the fields of agronomy, food sciences, bio-science engineering, environmental sciences, agribusiness, economics and politics. Indeed, IAAS offers to your university to display your educational opportunities available for international students on our social media (Facebook, Instagram and LinkedIn) and website.

This communication tool gives students the chance to find the right study program among a network of trustworthy IAAS universities where the local members provide help for the international student's integration. What's more, it gives your university the possibility to reach more than 10.000 students in more than 50 countries in order to extend your visibility and attractivity worldwide.
